QUESTION 13:

Has SoCalGas or SDG&E performed a survey, study, or analysis assessing interest and/or likely uptake in the RNG program? If so, please provide survey, study, or analysis.

RESPONSE 13:

Please see the attachment, which reports the results of a Renewable Natural Gas Program Interest and Uptake survey conducted by SoCalGas in November 2018 with our customer insight panelists. As shown in the attachment, seventy-six percent of residential and 60% of business panelists indicated that they would be willing to participate in program that supported either the development of RNG projects, direct purchase of RNG or both. Further, the attachment shows that fifty-six percent of residential panelists and 55% of business panelists who were interested in participating in the program said they would prefer to pay for the program as a percentage of their monthly usage. Finally, the attachment provides that most residential panelists (53%) would be willing to pay between $1 - $5 per month, while 45% of business panelists would pay $1 - $5 to participate in the program, and another 36% would pay $6 - $10.
